

NEW SIGNS FOR STREET CORNERS

Council Committee Decides to Comply With Real Estate Men's Petition.

LIGHTS FOR SOUTH TEMPLE.

Incandescents Will Take the Place of Present Arc Lights—Patrolman Preece's Case.

The matter of providing new street signs for the intersections of the streets of the city was taken up at city council committee meeting last night before the committee on streets, and it was decided to have the engineer finish his work in regard to changing the names of some of the streets so as to avoid duplication in that matter, after which the new street signs will be decided upon.

A delegation of members of the Real Estate association, which petitioned the council in regard to the street signs, was present last night in behalf of the petition. While there the delegation presented each councilman with a "Boost Salt Lake" button.

TO LIGHT SOUTH TEMPLE.

The matter of lighting east South Temple street was considered by the same committee, and Manager Campbell of the Utah Light & Railway company and the superintendent of the light service were present and submitted a plan for properly lighting the street. They favored using 22 candle power incandescents on each side of the street at a distance of 132 feet apart. The lights will be enclosed in a globe and will extend on an iron arm from the steel poles already erected by the company. The cost of lighting the street from State to Thirtieth East will be $2,400 a year, which is $336 in excess of the present cost of the lighting. The committee decided to have the lights installed for a block as an experiment, and it will then decide whether the plan proposed is better than the arc lights.

PREECE MAY GO BACK.

The police and prison committee briefly considered the resignation of Patrolman Preece, which was accepted by Chief Lynch. It is stated that there was some misunderstanding about the matter, and the officer will probably return to the force. The committee is considered at a meeting of the committee in Chief Lynch's office this afternoon.

Millionaire's Poor Stomach.

The worn-out stomach of the over-fed millionaire is often paraded in the public prints as a horrible example of the evils attendant on the possession of great wealth. But millionaires are not the only ones who are afflicted with bad stomachs. The proportion is far greater among the toilers. Dyspepsia and indigestion are rampant among these people, and they suffer far worse tortures than the millionaires unless they avail themselves of a standard medicine like Green's August Flower, which has been a favorite household remedy for all stomach troubles for over thirty-five years. August Flower rouses the torpid liver, thus creating appetite and insuring perfect digestion. It tones and vitalizes the entire system and makes life worth living, no matter what your station. Trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

AT MURRAY TONIGHT.

Manufacturers' Association Will Give Home Industries a Boost.

The Manufacturers and Merchants' association is in readiness to join with Murray people tonight in a demonstration in favor of home industry and reciprocity between Utah cities.

At 7:15 this evening special cars, furnished by the Utah Light and Railway company, will leave First South and State streets on which all members of the association will be welcome. A brass band will go along ready to furnish harmonies during the evening.

WILL MEET BOULDER.

Daniel Alexander, Percy Goddard and John Jensen the Winners.

In the preliminaries for the Boulder-Utah debate which were held yesterday at the University of Utah, the men finally announced by the judges as winners were Daniel Alexander, Percy Goddard and John Jensen. Dale Parke was chosen alternate, but the contest for the places was so close that it required a great deal of time to finally select the winners. The judges were President J. T. Kingston, Superintendent Christensen, and Professors Byron Cummings, N. T. Porter and Lindsay McGhie.

Daniel Alexander, who heads the debaters, is a senior in the arts department and is editor of the Chronicle. Percy Goddard came to the University from the L. D. S. university, and is president of the Arts Students. He took a prominent part in organizing them a year ago. John Jensen is athletic manager, under faculty appointment, and was last year editor of the Chronicle. He will graduate in June with the class of 1905.

CURIOUS CAT PLUNGES CITY IN DARKNESS.

The city was thrown into darkness at 8 p. m., yesterday, by the short circuiting of the power lines just south of Kaysville, and it was 10 minutes before any relief came. At the same time, several lightning rods at Jordan station were burned out, entailing a loss of over $1,000. Light and power were speedily supplied by the emergency plant, while the linemen were scattered through the country to locate the source of disturbance. The source was presently found in the shape of a charred cat lying at

NEW HOME FOR TRIBUNE.

Deal Closed By Which Progress Block Changes Hands For $132,000.

A $132,000 deal was made yesterday afternoon, when the Tribune Publishing company bought from S. H. Auerbach, the Progress building on Main street, at present occupied by the Herald. The building is six stories high and 44x59 feet, and will be remodeled at considerable expense to meet the requirements of the new tenants. Messrs. Kearns and Keith, the owners, will leave shortly for New York to secure a new equipment for their paper. An independent local light and power plant will be installed, and the premises occupied by June 1. The old Tribune building on West Temple street will then be devoted to other purposes.

FUNERAL OF S. C. EWING.

Landlord of Cullen Hotel Laid to Rest This Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Landlord Samuel C. Ewing of the Cullen hotel were held this afternoon, in Masonic hall under the auspices of Argenta Lodge No. 3, of which the deceased was a member. The remains were removed to the hall at noon, and exposed to view, prior to the services which were conducted by Rev. Dr. Paden of the First Presbyterian church. The music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Mrs. H. B. Windsor, Mrs. Herbert Brown, A. H. Peabody and Harry Knowles, with Miss Maude Thorn of the First Presbyterian church as organist. The interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery, special cars being provided for mourners. Mrs. J. J. Matthews, a sister of Mr. Ewing, and a nephew, Frank Poole, Jr., arrived from Pittsburgh, Pa., in time to attend the funeral. The attendance was very large, as the deceased was widely known and had many friends.

HIT BIRD FLUTTERS.

Judged from the manner in which the Salt Lake Tribune is roasting the gambling dens of the capital, someone connected with the institution must have been pinched hard enough to cause a squeal. The writer displays an intimate knowledge of all the various games known from evans to fare, and must have had a run of unbroken bad luck, causing him to believe that "all is vanity." Expensive experience only could cause such pessimistic and caustic utterances. —Logan Journal.

MRS. GLEECH GETS DIAMONDS BACK.

Wins Suit Against Mrs. Gertrude Ryckman for Her Recovery.

WERE GIVEN AS SECURITY.

Judge Ryckman Kept Them as Part Pay for Counsel in Certain Murder Case.

Judge Lewis has rendered a judgment in favor of plaintiff in the case of Margaret Gleech against Mrs. Gertrude Ryckman for the possession of certain diamonds belonging to plaintiff and held by Mrs. Ryckman or for their value estimated at $1,000. According to the story connected with the case, the diamonds were given to Judge J. H. Ryckman as security for the payment of attorney's fees for the defense of the slayer of Holden O'Connor at Kemmerer, Wyo., several years ago. Mrs. Gleech was interested in the man charged with the crime and she employed Judge Ryckman to defend him, paying part of the fee in cash and giving her note and the diamonds as security for the balance. Mrs. Gleech claimed that she paid the note after the case was disposed of, but Judge Ryckman held the diamonds on the claim that she owed him $500 in addition to the fee stated. He accordingly filed suit against her and attached other property belonging to her. She fought the case and the court found that she was indebted to Judge Ryckman in the sum of $117.10, but that she was entitled to the possession of the diamonds and other property attached. She paid the judgment and secured an order for the property, but Judge Ryckman had given the diamonds to his divorced wife, who had come to Utah. Suit was then filed against her here to recover the diamonds and the precious stones were ordered turned over to the sheriff pending the determination of the suit. As judgment has now been rendered in favor of plaintiff the diamonds will be turned over to her.
